What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services to retail investors, including asset allocation, investment management, and financial planning services. When we provide you asset allocation services under our Family Office and Capital Allocation services, we create an Investment Policy Statement for you and use that document to allocate your assets on a discretionary basis among one or more third-party investment managers. If you are receiving our Family Office or Capital Allocation services, we may also allocate your assets to alternative investments including private equity and hedge funds. In certain cases, we may provide you investment management services where we invest your assets on a discretionary basis directly in securities like exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and mutual funds. When we provide you with financial planning services, our advice may include retirement, tax, estate, insurance, cash flow, and cross-border planning. In addition to the investment advisory and financial services above, we may also provide you with non-advisory concierge services through our affiliate, August Lifestyle Inc.

We monitor your portfolio on at least a quarterly basis, including any third-party investment managers we select on your behalf. You may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

For additional information, please see our Form ADV Part 2A brochure (Items 4 and 7).

What fees will I pay?

When we provide you investment advisory services, we charge you a service fee based either on your assets under management or your net worth. If you are receiving our Capital Allocation service, the fee schedule is based on the value of assets overseen by August, including funds managed by third-party portfolio managers and invested in funds. The annual fee ranges from 1.00% of assets under management up to $25 million, to 0.45% of assets under management over $300 million. If you are receiving our Family Office service, we will charge you a fee equal to an annual rate of 0.85% of your net worth, which may be adjusted based on complexity. Your net worth is defined as being the value of your assets less the value of your liabilities, subject to certain exclusions. For this purpose, assets may include those that you hold directly or indirectly, assets managed by third-party portfolio managers or invested in funds, assets that we manage directly, and cash and cash equivalents, among other assets. Liabilities may include your mortgage debt, lines of credit, and other debt we determine from time to time at our discretion.

All advisory fees are charged to you in arrears on a quarterly basis and will generally be deducted directly from one of your custodial accounts. Financial planning services are generally included in our Family Office service offerings. Our service fee under the Family Office service may also cover certain non-advisory, concierge services provided by our affiliate, August Lifestyle. August Lifestyle may also receive referral compensation for referring you to certain, non-securities related service providers.

You should also note that when we charge you a fee based on your net worth or assets under management, the more assets that are in your account, the more you will pay in fees. We therefore may have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account on which we can charge our service fee. Please also note that in addition to our service fee, you will incur certain charges imposed by custodians and other third parties that are separate from and in addition to the fees we will charge you. These charges include brokerage commissions, custodial fees, transaction fees, and charges and fees imposed directly by a third-party investment manager or by a mutual fund, ETF, or alternative fund held in your account.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

For additional information, please see our Form ADV Part 2A brochure (Items 5.A, B., C., and D).

Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, our business model may create some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they affect the recommendations we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

- We manage assets on behalf of our parent company, occasionally side-by-side with the assets we manage on your behalf. This may create a conflict of interest due to favor the parent company when recommending third-party investment managers and allocating investment opportunities. To help mitigate this conflict, we have policies and procedures in place to ensure that all clients are treated equally.
- August Group Legacy, our insurance affiliate, will receive commissions from insurance policies purchased through the affiliate. This may create a conflict of interest to have you work with our affiliate for our insurance needs. You are under no obligation to purchase these products, however, and we will always act in your best interest when making any recommendation.

For more information about our conflicts of interest, please see our Form ADV Part 2A brochure (Items 10 and 12).

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our investment advisory representatives receive cash compensation in the form of a base salary as well as a bonus, based on their performance and the profitability of the firm. Relationship managers may receive a commission for new assets under management as well as existing assets overseen. Certain employees are also owners of the firm and receive a share of profits. We do not receive any transaction-based compensation, such as brokerage commissions or mutual fund sales charges, or any other compensation from third-parties in connection with the management of your account. As noted above, however, our affiliates may receive compensation for referring certain non-securities related service providers to you.
